

Project Summary

Hilton Garden Inn – Denver

Situation

Hired by the management company, this property was in need of a cosmetic face lift.

Challenge

The challenge was the time frame for completion. The Democratic National Convention was coming to town and the hotel was sold out during that time. We only had two weeks in which to complete the project. In addition, this is the primary entrance to the hotel and it had to be open for business during the construction.

Solution

AGS stripped the portico and then applied sheathing and EIFS to match the remaining portions of the building. We also were able to reproduce the surface details of the existing building using on-site manufacturing skills. This greatly reduced the time needed to complete the job.

Result

This last minute project was completed under the allotted budget. AGS executed the project in less than the time scheduled which allowed the hotel to complete their preparations for the Convention. The potentially affected customers had minimal inconveniences.
